Excerpt: . manites, fellow-descendants of Israel, * like themselves, though under a curse, they felt bound to adopt them into their families and treat them like their own children. Therefore, it was a costly purchase that Wah-ker invited them to make; and on this occasion, Decker and his comrades bought what the Indians had brought of other wares, such as dressed skins and ponies and Mexican saddles, but declined the human goods. Wah-ker then produced a shivering little four-year-old girl, whom he insisted on their buying. He asked an extravagant price, because he had brought her so far; away from the Santa Clara country. Her board could not have cost the hero much, for he used to picket his little captives to a stake by a rope around their necks, and for days at a time they had literally nothing to eat more than was afforded them by the run of their teeth among the undergrowth within the length of their tether. * Those are the ten tribes, which were carried away prisoners out of their own land in the time of Osea, the king; whom Shalmaneser, the king of Assyria, led away captive And he carried them over the waters, and so came they into another land. They took this counsel among themselves, that they would leave the multitude of the heathen, and go forth into a further country, where never mankind dwelt. That they might there keep their statutes, which they never kept...
