Then Iseult, the quick-witted queen, seeing that it fell to her to speak, arose and answered: My king, my lord bishop, Queen lords of the land and all ye courtiers, ye 15 1 ;, shall all know well that I deny my lord s answe shame and mine, and I shall deny it both now and at all times. Ye lords all, I know well that this accusation hath been brought against me, it is now over a year, both at court and abroad; yet ye yourselves know that no man may be so fortunate that, however well he may live, evil shall never be spoken of him. Therefore I marvel not if such chance should also befall me. I may never be left in peace, I must ever be slandered and misjudged since I am here a stranger, and have neither friend nor kinsfolk in the land--there are but few here whom my shame may touch. Ye all and each, whether rich or poor, believe readily in my misdoing! If I knew now what I might do, or what counsel I might follow whereby I might prove mine innocence, and win again your favour and my lord s honour, I would readily agree to it. What would ye have me do? Whatever judgment may be passed upon me thereto will I readily submit, that your suspicions may be laid to rest, yet even. more that mine honour...
