Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Second and Third Years To be a child is to be so little that the elves can reach to whisper in your ears; . . . and it is to turn pumpkins into coaches and mice into horses, lowness into loftiness mid nothing into everything, for each child has a fairy god-mother in its soul it is to live in a nut shell and count yourself the king of infinite space. -Francts Thomson. The Senses: Sight; Hearing; Touch; Temperature; Taste; Smell; The Muscular Sense; Organic Sensations; General Sensations; Temperament; Moods-Instincts: Individualistic: Fear; Anger-Relaxation Instincts- Adaptive Instincts: Curiosity; Imitation (and Imagination); Play-Social Instincts: Docility; Love; Desire of Approbation-The Moral Instinct- Memory-Will-Speech-Hand Activities-Summary-References. The first three years of life have been termed the period of physical adjustment. They are characterized by a greater and more rapid development of the senses and of the control of the fundamental movements of the body and its members than any other period of equal length through life. They deserve the most careful study and attention. Let us summarize some of the studies that have been made which outline the usual development of children, especially during the second and third years. In doing this let us avoid the snare of trying to focus with exactness the dates of the first appearance of given abilities or functions. Dr. David R. Major tells us that during a period of three and a half years of constant watching of his own two children, he saw only one acquired ability which had the appearance of coming all at once. He uses as an illustration a search we might make in a bed of plants for...
